

Noemi Navarro Espada

Graduated in history, with a mention in the history of social and political formations, and Master's degree in Archival Science. The interdisciplinarity required by these two disciplines has led her to work in various archives, museums and institutions, with projects focused on the management and dissemination of documentary and cultural heritage, teaching and the recovery of historical memory.

Currently, she is part of Archives without Borders and is an archival technician at the Port of Tarragona Archive, from where she has forged most of her academic and professional training and experience. It is here that she dealt with the collection of the Nautical Club of Tarragona, an organization dedicated to the world of sports linked to the sea.
